About CIVITAS SUMP's-Up

Objective

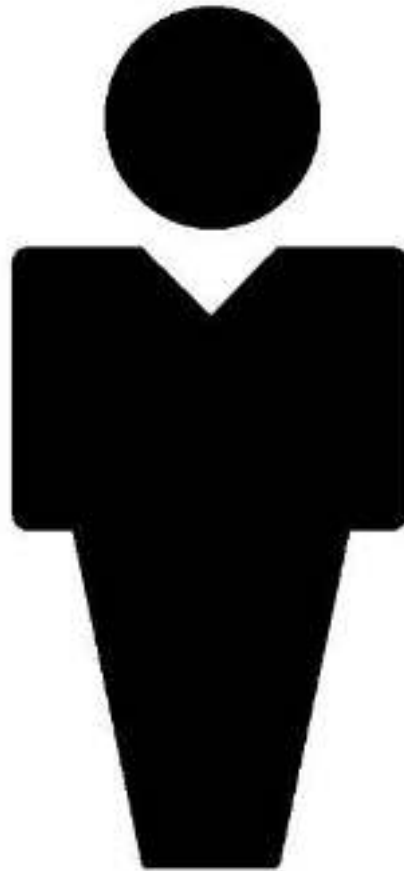

Enable mobility planning authorities across Europe to embrace SUMP as the European-wide strategic planning approach, especially where the take-up is low and the negative effects of transport are severe.

Target

- 7 SUMP's-Up partner cities
- training for 100 cities
- capacity building for 200 mobility practitioners
- reach out to 600 authorities
- 30 SUMP's prepared

Mobility practitioner?

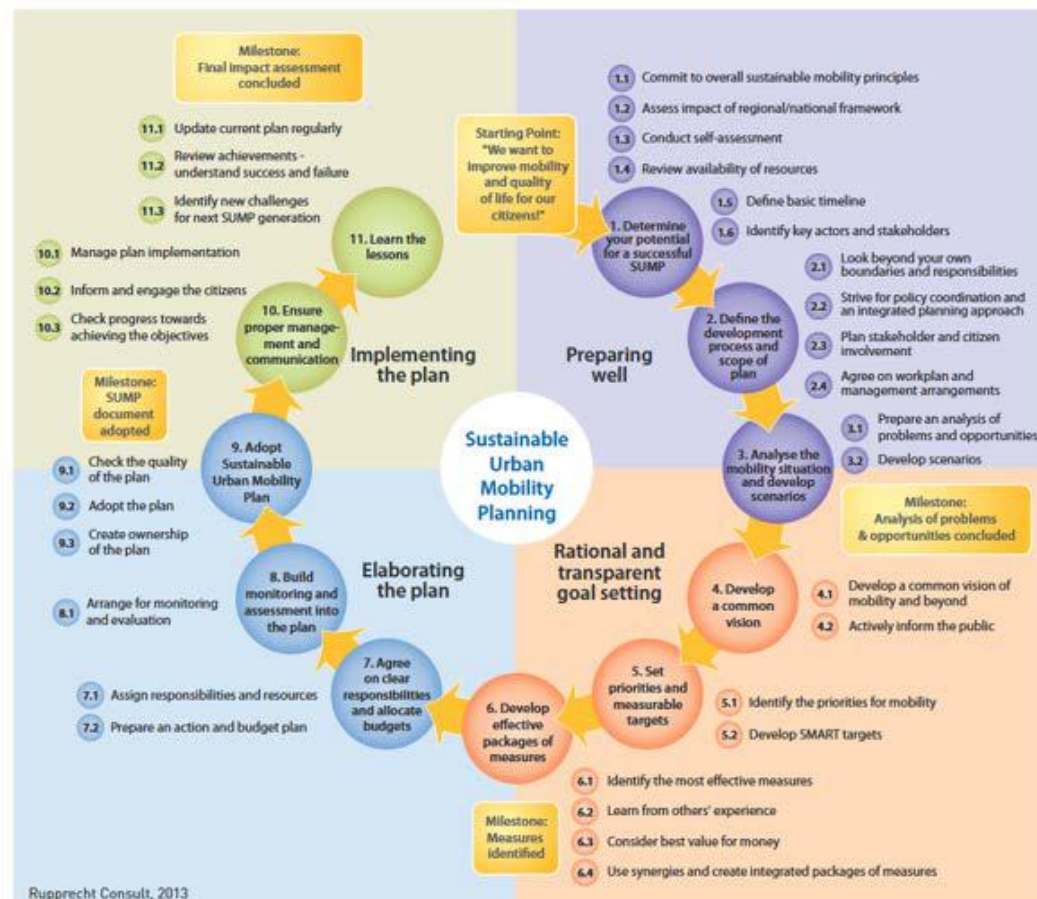

Going through the SUMP cycle – a challenge?

There are as many different ways to set up a SUMP as there are cities..

... however there are also common elements that result from implementing the SUMP cycle steps and activities that form important parts of SUMP.

Sounds complicated?

- Current Status of SUMP's
- The total number of SUMP's adopted across Europe has grown significantly, rising from 800 in 2010 to 1000 in 2013, although the momentum is less certain. 250 more cities are adopting SUMP's in 2013 compared to 2010.
- The number of cities that are implementing - or are preparing to undertake - a SUMP is high. Compared to 160 in 2010, 350 SUMP's are under preparation.
- Increasing number of countries (7 now compared to 7 in 2010) provide a more structured urban transport planning framework that is mandatory. Some also include legal definitions, guidance and government interest, alongside city strategies of transport.

Guidelines

Start - Beginner Cities	Step-up - Intermediate Cities	Innovate - Advanced Cities
This offers examples and suggestions on conducting measure selection for a first SUMP, possible measures to consider, grading these measures, and gaining approval for their implementation.	This gives advice on applying a more systematic approach to measure selection, finding synergies between different measure types and policy areas, and integrating measures from new fields into what has already been done in a city.	This focuses on finding ways to cooperate with stakeholders and the public, and open up participation, approaches that help realize the implementation of new ideas, and devising strategies to foster innovation and reach beyond the transport sector.
